

LOVE the Sanford Legacy

Invest in your hometown

Interested in donating but not sure where to start? The Sanford Schools Legacy Foundation can help — it's a community nonprofit established to make giving easy!

"When you give to the Foundation, you are investing in the future of our students and our community by enhancing educational opportunities that may not otherwise be possible through taxpayer support," said Legacy Board President Kendra Williams. "When you give, you open up possibilities for the next generation in Sanford."

Say you want to give, even $100 — every bit helps, right? You can put it toward a special fund (the John Cochin Field, for example, or the Brian Flanagan Memorial Pole Vault Shed) or Have a Seat at the Sanford Performing Arts Center.

Say you want to name a classroom or a playing field in a loved one's honor, we can help you!

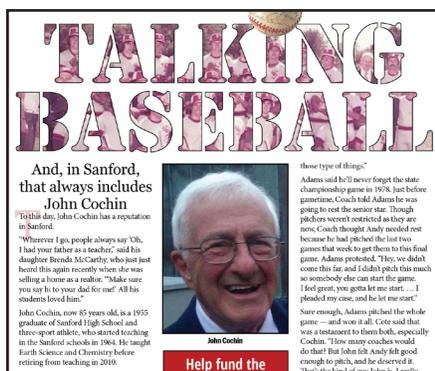

Say you want to give a gift of gratitude, to honor or memorialize a loved one? Yes, we can do that too!

Say you want to leave a legacy and name us in your will. This is called a planned gift, and you may tell us exactly how you want the money used or trust our experts to apply it where we need it most.

Here are some easy ways to give

Partnering with the Maine Community Foundation

The Sanford Schools Legacy Foundation is one of 2,000 funds professionally managed by the nonprofit Maine Community Foundation.

Legacy Board member David Jagger has spent considerable time researching and working with MCF leaders in recent years to establish the Legacy fund.

There are three ways to plan your gift:

- Unrestricted Planned Giving
- Restricted Planned Giving
- Matching Gifts

"Think of it as an endowment, but it's professionally managed," said Jagger. "I have the highest regard for them. I'm excited about it, it's a really good thing for this community."

Planned Giving gifts to the Legacy Foundation are made directly through the Maine Community Foundation. This investment earns interest, so it's the gift that keeps on giving, and the growth of this pre-established fund will assure that the students of the Sanford Schools continue to benefit long into the future.

Most contributions qualify as charitable deductions through federal and state income taxes. As with all financial considerations, discuss potential tax advantages and other aspects of giving with financial experts.
